

A taste of Brittany

Cookery / travel series

A travel in Western France, within Brittany, a Celtic region, looking for its cuisine culture, its chefs, its cookery specialities as well as its pretty cities and landscapes.

A funny and crazy host brings us on a culinary trip through the Celtic region of Western France, Brittany. In each episode the audience discovers a new city from a local chef's point of view. During a quick shopping expedition the chef reveals the secret addresses where he picks up the best ingredients and wines for his cuisine – he then prepares a local speciality. Viewers will discover why France, and Brittany in particular, is the best place to eat and travel.
